

Submission of Reviews and Recommendations

The process for submitting recommendations for well-written, informative, and engaging non-fiction books about Italy and Italian American heritage, as well as fiction works written by Italian American authors is easy. Simply e-mail the recommendation as an MS Word file to Dan Miller at dan@italianamericanheritage.org.

That's the easy part. There are some considerations that are not quite that simple, however. They involve protecting YOUR rights to copyrighted materials.

Dan and Joyce Miller are the co-owners of Integrated Writer Services, LLC (IWS) that is the owner of the domain name (URL) and copyright owner of the website www.italianamericanheritage.org, which is maintained as a service to the Italian American community in Colorado. Since copyright clearance is one of the services IWS provides, the company is very aware of copyright issues associated with the posting on content on the Internet.

1. The narrative must be an original unpublished work that you personally have written.
2. The narrative should not be a paraphrase of something already published unless you are the sole person who holds the copyright for the original work that you are paraphrasing.
3. You will retain the copyright for the narrative submitted. Your name and a copyright statement of your ownership will be included on the website posting.
4. By submitting a manuscript, you give permission for Integrated Writer Services, LLC to indefinitely post the submitted narrative on www.italianamericanheritage.org. This permission is given gratis.
5. Integrated Writer Services, LLC reserves the right to post or not to post your submission.

Please include the following statement in the e-mail containing your submission:
I accept the five conditions set forth in the "Submission of Reviews and Recommendations" document for the attached submission.

If you have any questions, send Dan e-mail at dan@italianamericanheritage.org or call at 303.564.4181.